NARTAI

Open for International Sales

Genre: Tragicomedy with action elements

Production Status: Finished

Running time: 117 min

Directors: Gulnara SARSENOVA, Vakhtangi KHUBUTIA

Producer: Gulnara SARSENOVA
Synopsis: Chain of the movie events occurs in Germany and Kazakhstan in 1991. Due to a combination of adverse circumstances, Edik Petrov, a Russian equilibrist who then fled to Germany from the USSR, hijacks the T-72 tank on its way back to the USSR within the Western Group of Forces.

Here again, Edik also “steals” the tank’s driver – Nartai Sapargaliyev, a Kazakh staff sergeant, having them both stay illegally in Bavaria. Nartai has one important confidential task, and primarily he reports his command headquarters about the occurred trouble. While the command sets off to find another way out of such delicate ground, Nartai cannot twiddle his thumbs at all. He becomes a headliner for local farmers thanks to his ability to adjust functionality of any equipment whatsoever. He even plows the fields on his tank. In addition, he helps Edik, his unlucky “thief”, to escape from the bandits pursuing him. He rescues Katya Gurevich, a Jewish homeless and penniless girl trapped in Munich. And, at the end, he skirmishes with the neo-fascist group, becoming a winner and the world-famous hero!

For Nartai, as an epic hero, there is nothing impossible. The only thing that haunts him is homesickness. Nartai, Edik and Katya are in the interminable controversy relatable to any person. Where is your home? Is it the land of your ancestors? Is it where you were once happy? Or is it where your beloved one awaits you?

This movie will inspire each viewer with new mindset about both common and difficult concepts such as “home” and “Homeland”. Let anyone define these notions on his or her own. Nevertheless, they are what bring us together. Every inhabitant of this planet, without any exception.

Synopsis: The dream of Assel, the main character of the film “The Girl and the Sea,” is simple and feminine – to find a boyfriend, create a family and give birth to children. But Assel’s disease – cerebral palsy is an insurmountable obstacle to the realization of this dream.

No guy wants to marry a helpless wheelchair user. However, when Timur, a novice actor with disabilities comes to the rehabilitation center and gives signs of attention, her desire to become a wife and mother flares up with renewed vigor. An affair begins between two young disabled people on wheelchair, which develops into a mutual desire to start a family. But the idealism of young lovers is opposed by an enemy called cerebral palsy that turned their life from childhood into a continuous struggle for survival. The disease gradually but inexorably destroys Timur’s dream of becoming an actor – his stuttering intensifies and he can no longer perform on stage. Assel’s dream is also getting ruined – her sister Anel and her bridegroom Saken do not cope with the need to care for the two helpless disabled people living in their house, which is why the future marriage of Anel and Saken is in jeopardy.

After all, Timur is trying to break off the relationship with Assel, but she is ready to go to any humiliation to save her chance to start a family and have a baby. Timur provokes a scandal – he tries to harass Anel, because of what Saken and Anel drive him out of their house and forbid Assel to marry him. Desperate Assel asks Timur to help her give birth to an illegitimate child...

THE CRYING STEPPE

Open for International Sales

Genre: Historical drama

Running time: 137 min

Production Status: Post-production

Director: Marina KUNAROVA

Producer: Yernar MALIKOV
Synopsis: The story is based on real historical events that the indigenous people of Kazakhstan had to live through in the 1920s-1930s when the Famine-Genocide claimed the lives of about 70% of the country’s population. In the 1920s, the European countries and the USA tried to get humanitarian help to the starving people on the territory of the Soviet Union. More than 15 million lives were saved from starvation.

The Bolsheviks confiscate food supplies from the Kazakhs because Stalin at that time built his politics on the fact that hungry people are easier to break, rule and manipulate. The Bolsheviks confiscate the last that people have – they take away whatever is left of food to punish the villagers. Mass starvation and lack of hope gradually turn people into animals, ready to do anything for a piece of bread. Villagers face many horrible events such as betrayal, murder, the kidnapping of children and cannibalism.

The main character Nuria, does everything she can to save her children. When she finds herself in such unbearable circumstances, alone and without her husband’s help, she realizes that she’s ready to do whatever it takes – even the most horrible things, to help her children survive.

She lets her daughter be eaten by wolves to save her son. She’s ready to forget about honor for a piece of bread and kill a person. She’s prepared but still struggles, trying to remain humane. There’s so much love, pain, and disappointment in her heart, and that makes her sacrifice everything for her children.

Synopsis: Among the ancient people inhabiting the territory of Eurasia, the tribes that called themselves Saka stood out. They were nomads and great warriors of the steppe.

The story begins with a brief biography of the King Spargap, the father of Tomiris. Spargap, entitled to the king’s throne, is involved in the war between the tribes of the Saka and Massagetae. Influential leaders with greedy and cunning Kavaz and Kurtun among them do not hurry to unite under one authority and defend different interests. Spargap tries to unite the steppe tribes with words and swords. At this troubled time, Spargap has a daughter and names her Tomiris.

Her mother, Bopai, whom Spargap loved so much, dies in childbirth. From that moment, Spargap has taken over the care of Tomiris. From an early age, she learns the hardships of nomadic and military life. The treacherous Kavaz and Kurtun conspire to kill Spargap. All the tribes in the steppe start fighting each other after his death. Young Tomiris escapes the murderers with Spargap’s loyal men. They announce a reward on her head. Tomiris grows up hiding and hunting in the woods. Now her goal is to return the rightful throne and unite the steppe tribes. However, little does Tomiris know what powerful threat she will face, calamity that can wipe all Saka off the face of the earth...

HOSTAGES OF WAR

Genre: Military drama
Running time: 100 min
Production Status: Work-in-progress
Director: Yeldar KAPAROV
Producer: Aliya UVALZHANOVAV
World Sales: Reason8 Films Ltd
Synopsis: The script of “Hostages of war” is based on the true story of the life of Ahiko Tetsuro, a 15-year old Japanese cadet from the prefecture of Karafuto, Japan. As the Soviet army advanced towards Japanese held territory, Ahiko Tetsuro was captured and exiled to a Kazakhstan detention camp. At the camp the young Japanese man meets, Akajan, a Kazakh man, who heroically went through his “own” war while serving in the Soviet Army, after which he was sent to the Japanese war, in which he was wounded and captured… however, Akajan was denounced as a ‘traitor and enemy of the people’. Two destinies, two worlds. Two opposing soldiers of one war come face to face. Who is right, who is an enemy, who is against who?

Only in the early 1990’s, after 50 years of separation, Ahiko Tetsuro first stepped onto Japanese soil. However, after meeting with his relatives, Ahiko came back to Kazakhstan to join his big family. This is a really gripping, tragic destiny of a young Japanese man, who survived first love and death of family, relatives, and loved ones, while saving the love of Japan within his heart for his entire life.

Logline: The fate of a young Japanese fisherman leads him to the Imperial army, far in the Kazakh steppe, where Ahiko Tetsuro learns how to survive and fight for justice.
